TRIAL OF MR. SNYDER.

All of the Testimony for the Prosecution Has Not Yet Been Heard. DUTHEIL FOUND NOT GUILTY

He Was Brought Into Court by Retaining Possession of a Photograph. Two Clothes Line Thieves Convicted—Domestic Troubles of the Monahan's Related—Verdict of Not Guilty Returned in Heller Case.

In the main court room yesterday the entire time of the court was taken in hearing the testimony for the prosecution in the case of John H. Snyder, who is charged with embezzling funds from Christian Feisenpan, a New Jersey lawyer, by whom he was employed. The testimony convinced the jury that the defendant and prosecutor were equally at fault, and a verdict of guilty was returned and the costs equally divided. Eugene Dutheil was next arraigned, charged with larceny by baillee by Andrew C. Mitchell, of Scranton street.

TRIBUTE ABOUT PICTURES. Dutheil is an artist who makes crayon portraits from photographs. His studio is on Lackawanna avenue. In December, 1893, one of Dutheil's agents obtained an order from Mitchell to prepare portraits of his father and mother. Their photographs were given to the agent to be returned with the large pictures. Instead of having the pictures completed in February as agreed upon, Mitchell says that the pictures were not brought to him for six months later. They were not satisfactory and he refused to accept them. He demanded the photographs but Dutheil refused to give them up until such time as the pictures were paid for. For this reason Mitchell had him arrested for larceny by baillee. Dutheil admitted that he has the photographs and is ready and willing to turn them over to Mitchell as soon as he pays for the pictures and complies with the agreement between them. The verdict was not guilty.

CLOTHES LINE THIEVES TRIED. Anthony Paunet and Anthony Valentine, two Danmore Italians, pleaded not guilty to a charge of larceny and receiving and went to trial. Assistant District Attorneys O'Neill and Baumish were the prosecuting attorneys and Colonel F. J. Fitzsimmons appeared for the defendants. A number of persons residing in Danmore testified that their clothes lines had been robbed of various articles of wearing apparel, some of which were found in the house occupied by the defendants. After the prosecution rested, Colonel Fitzsimmons asked Judge Archbald to direct a verdict of not guilty on the ground that the goods in the defendants' house had not been positively identified as the articles stolen. Judge Archbald thought otherwise, and decided to let the jury pass upon the matter.

THEIR STORIES CONFLICTED. Valentine went on the stand and said he brought the clothes found in his house from two men he met on the street. They wanted $2, but he succeeded in getting them for $1.50. Paunet testified that he bought the clothes for 60 cents from two men who came to his house. Valentine was not present. The jury, after deliberating for a few minutes, found the defendants guilty. Theodore Robello was accused of having thrown stones through the window of the store of Michael Ranyak, of River street, Oliphant. After listening to the testimony of the prosecution, the defendant entered a plea of not guilty. He became convinced that he had thrown the stone. Anthony Monahan, a blue eyed little Providence man was arraigned on a charge of assault and battery preferred by his wife Mrs. Bridget Monahan. They were married two years ago. Prior to that event the bride was the Widow McGoff. She brought six children to reinforce "Widower Monahan's family of two. One morning last September Mrs. Monahan says her husband arose and began to abuse her children. She interfered and he hit her with a chair, knocking her down. He then threw a lamp at her. Monahan denied the charge and says his wife is drunk the greater part of the time. On the morning of the trouble she sent her little daughter after a half pint of whiskey. A row followed and Mrs. Monahan tried to push him out of the room and she fell down. John Monahan, an 8-year-old son of the defendant, was sworn. He said that when he was coming down to the court house yesterday Mrs. Monahan told him not to swear hard and she would hit his father down easy. "Oh, you little devil!" exclaimed Mrs. Monahan, when she heard the boy's statement. The case was submitted to the jury without argument. A verdict had not been returned when court adjourned.

SPECIAL POOR BOARD MEETING. Held at Hillside Home for the Benefit of the Inmates. The directors of the poor of the Scranton district held an important meeting at Hillside home yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of determining what class of inmates should occupy the recently erected building. After examining the condition of all the buildings it was decided to use the

Happenings of a Day That Will Interest Hyde Park Readers. MARTIN JOYCE UNDER ARREST

Charged with Trespass and Making Threats Before Alderman T. T. Morgan of the Fifteenth Ward. Death of Mrs. Ann Malia—Lecture by Rev. Dr. Parke—Smaller News Notes of an Interesting Nature.

[The West Side office of the SCRANTON TRIBUNE is located at 133 South Main avenue, where subscriptions, advertisements and communications will receive prompt attention.] Martin Joyce, principal of No. 6 school, near the Continental mines, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Constable Timothy Jones on a charge of trespass and making threats against him by the school board of Lackawanna township. Some time ago Mr. Joyce became obnoxious to the school children on account of his abuse. It was for this reason that the board desired his release, and he was notified to leave the school premises. Mr. Joyce refused to do so, and as the teacher refused point blank to vacate a committee of the board visited the school yesterday afternoon accompanied by Constable Timothy Jones, who was armed with a warrant. When Joyce saw the men coming, he dismissed the children, and proceeded to barricade the doors, making it impossible for them to enter. Shortly afterward he appeared at a window on the southern side of the structure to argue the case with the gentlemen. Mr. Jones, a member of the board, called to the children, and Mr. Joyce replied in the following manner: "I will not admit any one of you, and I advise you not to try and force your way in. You have tried your best to ruin me, but I will stay where I am until I receive due justice. There is not any six men around that can get in here. I tell you fairly that I shall teach. I am here to teach, and here I shall remain." After some time was spent arguing in this manner, Mr. Joyce surrendered to the officer and was taken directly to the court of Alderman T. T. Morgan of the Sixth ward, where he was arraigned. Mr. Joyce admitted the trespass, but denied making any threats. But through the evidence of Charles E. Daniels and Mr. Davis, it was found that threats were made. Joyce was held under $300 bail to appear at the next term of quarter sessions court, to answer to the charge of trespass. He was permitted to return to the school room to procure his belongings, but the keys will be turned over to the school board on Monday evening next.

Mrs. Ann Malia Dead. Mrs. Ann Malia, wife of John Malia, of Jackson street, died at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon of pneumonia. Mrs. Malia was an old resident of this side, where she is very well known. She was 44 years of age, and is survived by her husband and nine children. She was a devout member of St. Patrick's Catholic church. Funeral notice will appear later.

Rev. Dr. Parke Lectures. Rev. Dr. Parke, of Pittston, delivered a lecture last evening on "The World's Fair" to an appreciative audience in the Washburn Street Presbyterian church. Dr. Parke is an interesting speaker, and his discourse was very entertaining throughout. Those who did not have the pleasure of seeing the fair, were considerably enlightened as to its enormity and splendor.

A Musical Cyclone. There will be a grand musical cyclone at the Salvation Army barracks, Price street, below Main avenue, Saturday evening, Jan. 27. The cyclone will be under the direction of Captain and Mrs. Hoel, who formerly commanded the Scranton corps. They will be pleased to see their many friends. There will be instrumental music and good singing.

Small Jottings of Interest. R. W. Luce, Jr., and W. S. Freeman, members of Company F, accompanied by Fred Edwards and Lieutenant Bert Chase, of Company C, returned last evening from Binghamton, where they attended a military ball given by one of the Parlor City's companies. Thomas M. Evans, of Philadelphia, son of Stephen J. Evans, deceased, arrived here yesterday. It was Mr. Evans' intention to be here to attend the funeral of his father, which occurred on Saturday last, but he was unable to do so. The infant child of Frank Campbell, of Price street, was buried yesterday afternoon. The funeral of Frank Campbell, of Bellevue, who died on Thursday morning, will occur today. A mass will be said in St. Peter's cathedral at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made in Pittston. Mrs. Margaret Evans, of Washburn street, is recovering from an illness. Miss Maggie Williams, of South Sumner avenue, has returned from Bennett, where she resided for some time. Miss Amy Jones, of Kingston, is the guest of friends on this side. Owen James of this side, will occupy the pulpit of the Plymouth Congregational church tomorrow. The Young People's Literary and Debating society, of the First Welsh Baptist church, held an interesting meeting last evening.

Music Boxes Exclusively. Best made. Play any desired number of tunes. Guaranteed. Manufactured by 1330 Chestnut street, Philadelphia. (Vocal and instrumental organs, only $3 and $10. Specialty: Old music boxes carefully repaired and improved with new tunes. The Elk Singers. THE ORIGINAL COMPANY COMES THIS TIME. LOUDIN IS WITH THEM. It is worth seeing. PLUMBERS' ANNUAL BALL. Over Two Hundred Dances at the Second Annual in Turner Hall. Plumbers' Local Union No. 90 held its second annual ball in Turner hall last evening and it was a very enjoyable affair. Hayes Brothers' orchestra furnished the music for dancing. There was a very large attendance and the grand march was participated in by about 100 couples. The ball was well conducted and the hall tastefully decorated with bright colored bunting.

IT IS LIEUTENANT STOKES NOW. Elected to Fill the Vacancy Caused by Death of Lieutenant Seelye. Company D held an election last evening for second lieutenant to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Lieutenant Seelye. The company unanimously chose Sergeant Stokes to the office. Sergeant Stokes is an able officer and an excellent soldier, and will no doubt fill with great credit the position to which he has been elected. The pictures which have excited the admiration of so many people may be had at The Tribune office today. The demand was so great that they were yesterday exhausted, but a thousand are now ready for distribution.

NOTES OF SOUTH SIDE.

Happenings of a Day That Will Interest Many Tribune Readers. MR. ROBINSON'S LAUDABLE IDEAS

Working Hard for the Benefit of His Constituents—His Efforts Will in All Probability Be Successful. Cedar Avenue Opposition to the Building of Bridges—Shorter Paragraphs of Live News.

Probably no citizen in either branch of the city government is more popular than Robert Robinson, the junior member from the Eleventh ward, and he is exerting himself in an effort that will undoubtedly prove successful and redound to the interest of his ward. For some time past Mr. Robinson has been buttonholing his brother members, but particularly the members of the estimate committee, requesting their assistance and co-operation in securing an appropriation for a very desirable project. For some years Elm street has been in a very dangerous condition, a large portion of the street west of Cedar avenue making the particular portion very dangerous for pedestrians after dark, and very dangerous for those using vehicles of any kind. In addition to this, it forms an open sewer that is a constant menace to the health of the community. It is to remedy the evils that exist that Mr. Robinson is bending every effort in a desire to accomplish. He realizes that the times are not propitious for building a sewer, but still, he desires to see permanent improvements effected in the ward. To this end he will ask for an appropriation of $3,000 to lay a 24 inch pipe to the river. It is his intention to have the pipe laid sufficiently deep so that when a sewer is built the pipe will not be interfered with for such purpose and in the event of such proceeding, the cost of the pipe drain can very properly be assessed against property holders in the sewer district.

Why He Did Not Attend. John J. Schneider, of the firm of Schneider Brown, was appointed a member of the bridge committee on Wednesday night's meeting, he did not present himself. In relation to the question a friend of Mr. Schneider thus expressed himself yesterday: "Mr. Schneider is like a good many other Cedar avenue property holders, they will not vote for any new bridges until Mates street is widened." There can be no doubt that with the advent of spring the object so much desired will be consummated. The money has been appropriated and just as soon as Engineer Rose of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company, completes the plans for the bridge and they are accepted in the New York office, work on the improvement will be rapidly pushed.

Shorter Paragraphs. Rev. E. J. Melley left yesterday for an extended visit in search of health. He will visit before returning the West India islands, portions of South America and Mexico. He is accompanied by Rev. N. J. McManus. John Orr, the 10-year-old son of James Orr, of Stone avenue, in the Nineteenth ward, died yesterday morning. The young man was not ruggedly constituted, and death was due to pneumonia. The date of the funeral was not fixed last evening. Alexander T. Connel, independent candidate for select council, died his nomination papers yesterday.

COURT HOUSE NOTES. The will of Edward W. Trezgar, late of this city was admitted to probate by Register of Wills Koehler yesterday and letters testamentary granted to Edward Brandt in the estate of Thomas Dockery, late of this city. The administration was granted to Mary Dockery. Before court adjourned yesterday afternoon, District Attorney Kelly announced that all of the cases on this week's list that have not been tried will come over until the next term of court. There were 110 cases on the list of which forty were passed upon by a jury. Mrs. Mattie Webster yesterday began proceedings to set aside her divorce from her husband, Edward Webster. Deserion is the ground on which it is asked. They were married Dec. 18, 1880, and on Sept. 5, 1891, Webster deserted his wife. William H. Nichols wants a divorce from his wife, Edith M. Nichols, on the ground of unfaithfulness. They were married on Jan. 9, 1888, and resided in this city. Charles Jackson is named as the co-respondent.

Headstone & Woer's and Ballantine's Ales are the best. E. J. WALSH, agent 28 Lackawanna avenue. After Sweating Off. How many have taken vows of abstinence with the birth of the new year is perhaps hard to estimate, but we now know that such efforts are futile against inveterate habit, a habit which has become a disease. There was a time when it would have been easy to quit, but having neglected to do so the habit continued until by the constant or frequent use of the poison there was forced a change in the nervous system which made it not only possible to drink, but necessary. Then you could drink a good deal and not seem to get drunk, but you also found it necessary, to keep you feeling good and you "craved liquor" because you had become diseased. Now that sweating off does no good and the pledge can't be kept, go and make your resolution good for all time by taking treatment at the Keeley Institute, 735 Madison avenue, Scranton, Pa.
